(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

NEW YORK Jan 21 —The Tribune this morning publishes the following A syndicate of prominent bankers which includes a number of persons largely interested in the Wabash & U P R R systems has been formed for the purpose of buying a large block of Central Pacific stock Negotiation for the purchase of the stock has been in progress for the last two weeks but the contract was not completed until yesterday C P Huntington vice president of the Central Pacific Company in behalf of himself and other owners of the road, has sold to the syndicate 50 000 shares of stock and has given option on 50 000 more The price paid for the stock is understood to be 70 but a higher price understood to be 80 will be paid for the second lot in case the syndicate shall take the option This privilege extends over six months but it is believed by prominent members of the syndicate that it will be taken long before it expires Payment for the stock is to be made in cash and no change will be made at present in the management of the road or its managers It seems to be probable that, in case of success in the full marketing of the stock the present transaction will be followed by others No conditions in regard to future purchase of stock or the management of the road has been included in the contract It is purely a cash transaction The owners of the road have been induced to part with their stock in order to share with others the control of the company, believing his divided control will add to the value of the property Almost the entire stock of the company has been held by the original builders Leland Stanford, C P Huntington, Chas Crocker and C F Crocker It is said that they consented to the sale of part of their stock in the belief that public attention would be attracted by this means to the value of the property The members of the syndicate which has secured an interest in the C P road, are R P Flower & Co Prince & Whitely Hatch & Foote John Loebe & Co and Hall, Garten & Co May & King, Marx & Co, I S Wormser, Philip Speyer & Co, Fisk & Hatch Brewster Sweet & Co of Boston Wm H Travers August Rutten Morton, Bliss & Co Speyer Brothers & Co of Holland, Russell Sage and Jay Gould An executive committee consisting of R P Flower, J D Prince and J B Probst was chosen to conduct the affairs of the syndicate The stock will not be sold by subscription, but a portion of it will be offered early next week on the stock exchange The stock has been on the list of the exchange for many years, but dealings in it have been almost nothing for the reason that the stock was held in a few hands It is the purpose of the committee to make the stock one of the active stocks on the exchange and to this end a small amount will be offered probably on Monday One person who had been admitted to the syndicate yesterday sold his privilege at a very large advance It was stated by a prominent member of the syndicate that outside offers for part of the stock had been made at a price far above that to be paid under contract It was stated also that a broker had been authorized to offer a much higher price for the control of the road These offers have been refused by the present holders of the stock.

WHO SHALL BE PRESIDENT.

INTERVIEWS THROUGHOUT THE WEST

Blaine Ahead—Hayes and Sherman Closely Following—Strong Sentiment against Grant

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

CHICAGO Jan 21 —The presidential [illegible] tion is [illegible] a large amount of [illegible] a [illegible] newspaper [illegible] and interviews with leading politicians are being held daily Scores of summaries sent in from the principal cities in the west [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] subject of [illegible] [illegible] This is principally true of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] lead in the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and Hen[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] erals [illegible] [illegible] By far the [illegible] [illegible] express a preference for Blaine who is [illegible] strong in Iowa Minnesota and Nebraska The next strongest [illegible] is Sherman who [illegible] in Iowa [illegible] Blaine pretty close and in Wisconsin and in parts of Illinois Indiana and Ohio and in a number of western southern states has a following that is silently working with much more effect than noise A surprising number also express a preference for Hayes despite his declaration that he would not be a candidate The Hayes men are understood to be all for Sherman for second choice Grant takes the third place in nearly every return His strength seems to have been greatly overrated by his friends and among the people at large who have been misled by the honors paid him as a general and a distinguished traveler into believing that the people were rising in a spontaneous demand that he be their president In the west he seems to be destined to secure only moderate support Washburne has been named as second choice for the Grant men and undeniably has some elements of strength but much less than his political adherents could wish He is not regarded by the shrewdest politicians as a probable or even possible candidate of any strength Conkling gets barely a recognition in the interviews as do also Edmunds Garfield and others Taking 100 as the number of votes in the west the preferences indicated by interviews might be expressed thus Blaine 37 Sherman and Hayes, 30 Grant 24 scattering 9 Ex Gov McCormick believes Grant to be losing ground, and the third term idea impossible

Geo Wm Curtis Interviewed on the Presidential Situation in New York.

NEW YORK Jan 21 —The Herald reports an interview with George William Curtis in which, speaking of Grant he says His strength is very great in this state It consists in what is known as the machine element Cornell, Hoskins, Arthur and Speaker Sharp are among its leaders So is Silas B Dutcher who has just been made superintendent of public works His office controls most of the patronage of the state and that will undoubtedly be used by the machine for the furtherance of the third term project Whether or not they will be able to throw the weight of New York in the national convention in favor of the scheme remains to be seen It is probable that Conkling will also tend in that direction and he is all powerful with the machine He has private reasons for not wishing the nomination of Sherman or Blaine Undoubtedly a majority of republicans will follow them, but there will be a great number who will act independently

President Pierola has issued a provisional communication He announces his devotion to the church and guarantees a free press but obliges editors to affix their names to their articles For failure to comply with the order six of the leading Lima editors were arrested and confined in prison

A revolt of negroes in the department of Chincha was followed by some horrible butcheries excited by a report maliciously circulated that the haciendas were about to establish slavery Fifty or sixty armed themselves broke into several haciendas and murdered the proprietors and some principal employes sacking and burning the premises and breaking up the machinery They were partially dispersed by the prefect of Yea, who killed four of their number The band was increased from other sugar districts to numbers variously stated at three four and six hundred These twice attacked the town of Chincha and were repulsed by the people with loss in killed and captured A report that the bandits would attack Pisco sent the women and children on board ships in the harbor and the troops marched next day to meet the band

Senator Blaine's Opportunity

From the Boston Evening Traveler

Any [illegible] [illegible] can raise a popular tempest but it requires a leader of the first calibre to play the part of Cromwell and ride on the whirlwind and direct the storm Can Mr Blaine enact this most difficult of all the roles of leadership We believe he can and that he will And if he enacts it with success saving to Maine her law her peace and order and defending the imperiled liberties of her people so far as they may be defended within those limitations he will stand [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] among the few men that have [illegible] [illegible] at any time [illegible] [illegible] with capacity enough to share and solve the crisis where order and authority are [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

House

WASHINGTON Jan 21

Sparks chairman of the committee on military affairs reported back the bill for the relief of Gen Fitz John Porter accompanied with a majority report thereon

McCook presented a minority report Both reports were ordered printed and the bill was made a special order for the 3th of February

McMahon from the committee on appropriations reported a bill for the payment of the fees of marshals and deputy marshals for the fiscal year ending June 30 1880 ordered printed and recommitted

Consideration was resumed of the bill relative to national bank reserves and the house was addressed by Lounsberry in favor of repealing the legal tender quality

The morning hour was consumed by a discussion of the bill requiring one half of the bank reserve to be kept in coin

Buckner who has charge of the bill argued that its whole scope and object is to get into circulation some of the immense mass of gold and silver now lying unused in the vaults of the treasury In conclusion he moved the previous question deprecating the discussion on a general question on finance which he argued was not relevant to the bill at all

The morning hour expired before the vote on the previous question could be taken

The house then resumed the committee report on revision of rules

The committee was addressed by Roberts and Chalmers in favor of the more equal distribution of committee work

After an extended discussion the committee rose

Townshend called attention to the fact that the national bank in New York with a capital of $500 000 had made a profit last year of $13[illegible] 000 It had paid $600 000 [illegible] 000 more than its capital in dividends on bank stock They had added $500 000 to their surplus fund and had set aside as undivided profit $25[illegible] 000 He then severely criticised some remarks made by Chittenden putting construction upon his language which he (Chittenden) declared it would not bear

Townshend took an extract to the clerk's desk and had it read

Chittenden (excitedly crossing over to within a few feet of Townshend)—That does not bear out your statement. [Laughter]

Townshend (approaching Chittenden)—Let me say with equal energy that the logic of the gentleman's argument is—

Speaker—The gentleman will suspend (Laughter)

Quiet having been obtained Townshend proceeded saying that Chittenden fancied that he was the only one who had a right to speak on the currency question upon this floor [Laughter] The proposition of that gentleman evidently was to forbid the secretary of the treasury from retiring interest bearing bonds and instead retire greenbacks, which bore no interest suppose the greenback was retired and a 4 per cent. bond substituted therefor—

Chittenden—I propose to substitute gold

Townshend—What would be the effect? It would be to impose upon the already broken down taxpayers of this country a further burden of $13 000 000 He was opposed to the bill because it proposed to strengthen the banks and make them permanent institutions and because it took out of the people's pockets at least $14 000 000 and put it into the pockets of National Bank stockholders He was in favor of the committee on banking reporting back the bill retiring the National Bank circulation

The house went into committee of the whole on revision of rules all general debate on which is to close to morrow

THE PUGET SOUND TIMBER EXPORT.

PROSPECT OF GOOD FOREIGN MARKETS.

Tabular Statement Showing the Export by Years Since 1869—Etc., Etc.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.)

SEATTLE, Jan 21.

Heretofore but a comparatively small portion of the lumber product of this section has found its way direct to foreign markets Yet this trade is one of great prospective importance as it is to foreign rather than to home markets that we must look in the future for a greatly increased demand for the products of our forests Puget Sound lumber is yearly coming into favor in foreign markets, and although the export trade has received a temporary drawback from the present war between Chile and Peru the demand from other quarters is just now rapidly increasing

Australia which has heretofore imported largely from the Baltic, is beginning to find that the Puget Sound pine is superior to the Baltic fir and consequently is increasing her orders That great country beyond her low ering eucalyptus which is entirely useless for building purposes is destitute of timber and in the opinion of many of our best informed mill men will be the great future market for our lumber Again, the demand from Japan China and the Sandwich Islands is increasing with remarkable rapidity and when Chile and Peru have at length settled their differences, Puget Sound lumber will be in great demand from that quarter to rebuild the towns and cities laid waste by war Altogether it must be conceded that the prospect for a greatly increased export trade in the immediate future is most encouraging

The largest timber in the world is cut here on Puget Sound and so the single item of spars for vessels is coming into general use Some of the sticks cut here measure 145 feet in length An order was recently filled for the French government of a number of spars for New Caledonia of an average length of 114 feet

The following table will show the extent of the Puget Sound lumber export trade here [illegible] for the past nine years For the data I am indebted to United States special agent Col W F Prosser

Proceedings of both Legislatures—Gen Chamberlain Disapproves of Gov Davis Action in Locking the State House

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

AUGUSTA Jan 21 —The fusion house reassembled at 10 o'clock The committee reported recommending the submitting of a series of resolutions to the supreme court

Ingalls said that the court had not decided whether or not we are a convention through which and by which a legal house may not be formed He [illegible] that he could would be here to night to assist in drafting the questions to be submitted to the court the committee to be instructed to [illegible] to the court a full statement of facts

[illegible] saw no way out of this but to submit to the court There are doubts in our position which are unavoidable but to stay here and pass laws which will be disregarded by the courts would be ludicrous He would have the committee take ample time and the republicans he said may find out that we are not savages and are not the dangerous fellows that we have been supposed to be and will permit us to occupy the state house afternoons and adjourn from day to day until the decision of the court can be obtained

Wallis said Are we in condition to ask the republicans to loan us the use of the state house to morrow (Cries of No, no!) And having obtained the opinion of the court, are we willing to submit to it? Having appealed to the court and finding its decision against us shall we cry that it is the decision of a partisan court? He had always been in favor of submitting to the court as a power to which he must bow

Ingalls said that if we ask for a decision from the court we must stand by it There are but two arbitrators in the present condition of affairs We must appeal to arms or to the court. He was not in favor of a civil war

[illegible] thought that it would be better to submit questions and obtain answers before agreeing to abide by them At any rate he would go with the majority

A member inquired when mileage would be paid, and the answer was that there need be no concern about that as it would be attended to

LETTER FROM GEN LANE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

You have been pleased to publish in your issue of the 19th inst, a criticism of the address recently issued to the democracy of this state. It is a province and duty of a newspaper to advise its readers upon all matters that may relate to their political as well as their material prosperity—the latter a sequence to the former.

In this article my name is prominently mention to the exclusion of my colleagues with whom said address was formulated, it is therefore in justice not only to myself but to my associates that I might have the privilege to advise your readers that they may be undeceived in a matter concerning which you may have unwittingly misled them.

Justice to myself, for if the address be unfavorably considered, that I may have company to share the responsibility, justice to my colleagues for if the same be favorably considered, they may share with me any glory that may arise therefrom.

I am too old to be greedy of fame and too fair to be a monopolist. The address is that of the committee

So far as my views are concerned I will say that in March 1861 I did deliver a speech against coercion I only sought that all the states each and all, should have their rights as created by the compact of union and guaranteed by the constitution as it then was. My views were derived from as careful a study of our system of government as in my feeble way I might be able to render These views had been promulgated by Jefferson, Madison, Webster and other distinguished statesmen of no mean ability and whose patriotism until the commencement of the unfortunate trouble between the sisterhood of states was not questioned I am not infallible and am not prepared to say that the authors that I consulted were infallible. If I erred it was honestly so. But you must remember that all this is a matter of the past, and of the dead past

The prominent questions that led to our war have been settled by the arbitrament of the sword by the acquiescence of all good citizens, and by the recent amendments to the constitution of the United States. We have not the same constitution entirely that we had in 1861. The constitution that does exist I intend to obey and so does every democrat in Oregon You can readily perceive that as a citizen my views have, by the circumstances related changed so as to conform to the public will and obey the injunctions of the fundamental law But under that sacred instrument the democratic party still maintains that the states have certain rights and that it is the duty of the great democratic party of the United States to sustain and preserve them in their entirety There is not a sensible democrat in these United States that believes that secession is either lawful or desirable They rely upon the intelligence and patriotism of the people and hence our address.

We believe that the principles referred to by us and enunciated in the Chicago platform of 1868 are correct And can it be wrong to say so? We believe that the boundary lines separating the states are not lines of imagination but lines of reality! To obliterate those lines would be to increase the power of the general government and result in centralization and ultimately despotism Such a result we would and will resist We believe it our duty to preserve the rights of the states and the general government in its whole constitutional vigor We believe the states should not have the power to dissolve the union nor the federal government the power to absorb crush or extinguish the states In reform we say this is an indivisible union of indestructible states If this be secession then I am at fault Certainly I do not consent that this is a divisible union of destructible states We cannot be coerced to that conclusion Pray then be as you usually are fair Proceed upon the sublime motto "[illegible] [illegible] towards none and with charity [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the dead bury its dead and that [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the sad memories [illegible] the past [illegible] [illegible] part little in [illegible] the [illegible] crimination and recrimination is required [illegible] admitted

[illegible] the value of your influence with [illegible] [illegible] I should not have wearied my [illegible] [illegible] patience by these suggestions [illegible] [illegible] they are honestly and sincerely given Very respectfully your obedient servant

FITZ JOHN PORTER AGAIN

COUNTER REPORTS PRESENTED IN THE HOUSE

The Majority Recommend Full Restoration to Rank with Full Back Pay—Argument of the Minority opposing the Schofield Findings.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.)

WASHINGTON Jan 21 —The majority report of the committee on military affairs in the Porter case, presented to day recites the facts of Gen Porter's accusation in 1862, his trial and sentence in 1863 and efforts to obtain a rehearing It also recapitulates the rehearing before the military board presided over by Gen Schofield, which reviewed all the original evidence obtained all additional testimony accessible at the date of its sitting, and which decided unanimously that Porter was innocent and should in justice be restored to his military position and that such restoration should date from the day of his dismissal The committee fully concur in the conclusions of the Schofield board whose report is adopted by them and submitted as the greater part of their statement of the facts and argument They further say that they have deemed it their duty to report a bill for his relief in substantial accord with the conclusions of the Schofield board

The minority of the committee report with expressions of regret and embarrassment that they must antagonize the findings of the Schofield board, and adhere to the conclusions of the board convened in 1862, Lincoln having approved the sentence and Lincoln, Johnson and Grant having successively disregarded Porter's appeals for a reopening of the case In this they ignore the specific testimony of Ex-Governor Newell of New Jersey, that Lincoln had already determined to order the rehearing when his purpose was frustrated by death. The committee remark that the first trial was had before a competent tribunal and when the facts were fresh. They are silent about Porter's claim that the most essential facts in the case were not attainable at that time, and so were not and could not be presented for consideration by the original judges in the case. The minority has now practically assumed to be better judges of all the facts than the Schofield board It thinks that the evidence shows that Porter had no faith in Pope, and they infer their conviction that this proves that he had an insubordinate motive for disobeying Pope's order The minority claims that his conduct is to be judged simply by the facts as shown at that time, and not as they now appear through the testimony of confederate officers. In this, again, they ignore and are silent upon the fact that Porter's defence from the beginning was that Pope's order to attack the enemy's flank could not be executed, because instead of having said flank in his front as Pope supposed when the order was written, Porter being on the spot knew that the main body of the confederates was already posted in his immediate front, facts which are now fully sustained by confederate testimony. and a knowledge of which at the time compelled Porter to exercise the ordinary discretion of a corps commander, and failure to do which would have made Porter responsible for a sure and overwhelming disaster to the whole army of Virginia, in other words, that his exercise of discretion was both justifiable and wise The minority, however, recommend a joint resolution that the president be requested to remit the remainder of the unexecuted sentence which disqualifies Gen Fitz John Porter from holding any office of trust or profit under the government of the United States. They apologize for this illogical conclusion of their argument, that Porter was justly convicted by reference to the general amnesty which has been extended to participants in the rebellion, thus making no distinction between what they virtually hold to have been treasonable treachery by a union corps commander, and the act of those who honestly, even though mistakenly, served the flag which they professed to support and took their chances in fighting for the rebellion.

The Fitz John Porter Bill as Amended.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 —The bill of Representative Bragg, for the restoration of Fitz John Porter, as amended by the military committee, gives General Porter the pay of a major general from January 28. 1862, to the first of September, 1866, and for a colonel from that date to the present day. It is roughly estimated that this allowance for arrears of pay will amount to between $50,000 and $60,000, and is in lieu of the $75,000 at first proposed.

REFORM AND REFORMERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In the address to the democrats of Oregon recently published I find the following excellent recommendation.

Demand with unflinching earnestness a reform of and economy in all the branches of our public service, whether state or national.

The sentiment commends itself to every patriot and to every honest man but what astonished me was to find it subscribed to by M. V. Brown and A. Noltner Mr. Brown stands charged with stealing some $20 000 from the tax-payers of this state and Mr. Noltner stands inculpated as the "expert" employed and paid by the state who sanctioned the steal and shared in the plunder. Neither of these worthies ever contributed an honest day's labor to the development of the resources of the state, or a dollar to the burden of its taxes. Both have long fattened upon the honest toil of those to whom they now make an impudent appeal for "reform and economy in all its branches"

It is now in order for some trio of the most notorious convicts in the penitentiary to give us a dissertation upon the recondite principles of common honesty.

It seems to me that any party organization that expected to achieve success in this state, would be careful to have it distinctly understood that they had no connection or affiliation with the late public printer or his facile "expert."

Those two great illuminators of public opinion and sound democracy now subscribe to the hard money doctrines and the honest payment of debts "both public and private, in honest money," as promulgated by Gen. Jackson, "this grand old leader of the party whose genius has made an imperishable mark upon his country's history, and who in his life was the great defender of true democratic ideas upon the subject of honest money" Great guns, what did Gen. Jackson ever do to deserve this encomium at the hands of Mart. Brown and Tony Noltner? For long years both have been watching and praying for the success of every inflation, repudiating greenback scoundrel who has shown his head They have written and published leagues of vapid editorials against the honest payment of the debt contracted to preserve the nation's life. The pledge of the government to honestly redeem and pay its debts in coin, in 1879 was denounced by both in their "organs" as "disastrous to every interest of the country" Gen. Jackson, God bless his glorious memory as an honest man his spirit will repudiate Brown and Noltner and all their ilk, and so will the honest people of Oregon on the first Monday of June next,

COLUMBIA RIVER COMMERCE

The president of the Astoria chamber of commerce, A Bowlby, submitted an address at a meeting of the chamber held last Monday evening, which contained a general review of the commerce of the Columbia river for the past twelve months and abounded with suggestions of importance and value for the future development of the commerce of the country. The address might be criticised somewhat in those parts which appear to contain a protest against further expenditures of money to deepen the Columbia and its affluents above Astoria, but the views entertained are those which are perhaps natural to our Astoria friends who feel eager to prevent ocean going vessels from ascending further than their town and who therefore do not see the necessity of river improvement above them. We fully agree however with this address that effort should be made to improve the entrance of the Columbia river. As to the proposed harbor of refuge it is stated that as the result of the inquiry made by the board of engineers the general impression among seamen seemed to be that no harbor of refuge merely was needed on this coast, but that the harbors should be improved and that the appropriation made for that purpose should be expended in improving some one harbor that would benefit commerce the most and when so improved would answer also as a place of refuge. It is added that when all the circumstances are taken into consideration no place on the coast would seem to be so appropriate for that great improvement as the Columbia river entrance, and certainly if the extent of commerce, present and prospective, and the need of rendering it all possible facility and aid, were taken into account this view of the case has a powerful argument to support it.

Some remarks are made on a plan of improvement which seem worthy of consideration. "Contract the river at its mouth, and the channel would deepen itself. To do this needs but the protection of the sandy shore and the carrying it into the river at Point Adams. The entrance of the Columbia can be easily improved and deepened to a channel as deep as on the bar at the Golden Gate. Clatsop Spit makes out a long way and is gradually pushing the river against the rocky shore, and in time if the currents should not change, would accomplish the purpose without assistance, but the currents change with wind and floods and cut away what they have builded." It is suggested that "a breakwater carried out on Clatsop Spit would soon bank on the sea side and probably next, to the river also with sand and form land that the swells of the ocean could not beat down."

Valuable tables of exports are appended to the address. Among them is one showing the total value of breadstuffs from the Columbia river to all ports from the year 1868 to 1878, inclusive. The total value for each harvest season was as follows:

1868-69	$ 680,812	1873-74	4,037,093
1869-70	1,059,522	1874-75	3,000,500
1870-71	1,546,947	1875-76	5,769,240
1871-72	2,125,352	1876-77	3,'50,170
1872-73	1,747,124	1877-78	5,635,100

Canning of salmon during the eleven years ending 1879 is stated in these figures, viz

1869	20,720 cases	1875	244,213 cases
1870	29,735 cases	1876	428,730 cases
1871	34,805 cases	1877	383,000 cases
1872	43,696 cases	1878	447,687 cases
1873	102,733 cases	1879	456,761 cases
1874	291,021 cases

We give these figures as they differ considerably from those heretofore published here, and appear to have been prepared with a degree of care which assures a trustworthy accuracy.

The address is very long and touches a great number of topics, so that we cannot attempt even an outline of it. But we must say that it is prepared with evident industry and with creditable attention to the present condition and future wants of the commerce of the Columbia river.

GEN LANE AND HIS PROTEST

Gen. Lane is now an old man. Perhaps there are few who will not think it would be better for a man of his age, with the political history he has, to let politics alone for his few remaining years, or at least refrain from active participation in partisan movements. Some years ago the people of Oregon were deeply offended with Gen Lane. His conduct had made it impossible for them to accord to him the credit of patriotic purposes. And in fact he had committed a great offense against his country. He was a man of prominence and influence, and occupied a high and important position. At a most critical juncture, at a terrible crisis in the life of the nation, at a moment when the country was wrestling in supreme agony with those who sought its destruction, Gen. Lane threw his whole influence in favor of the pro-slavery, state rights rebellion. He gave aid and comfort to the enemies of the country and encouraged them in their mad and wicked undertaking. All the sophistry of the confederate theory of politics was employed by him to justify the rebellion. How he was received when he returned to Oregon shall not here be recalled, for though Gen Lane has now again actively taken up his old style of politics just where he left off when he was retired from public life, we shall spare his declining years a recital which the course he has now taken would justly provoke in the case of a younger man. The people of Oregon, without distinction of party had, however, begun to soften towards Gen Lane as he grew old, especially as it was understood that he was taking no further active part in politics and wished the great errors of his life to pass into oblivion. It is a great mistake on his part that he has returned to politics in a way that compels a recollection of his former career. Gen. Lane's state rights doctrines, which he now again comes forth to preach, formerly meant the disruption of the union. He is not the man to talk these doctrines now. He says, however, that his views are changed by circumstances. If so he need not assert now again, as he did in 1861, the confederate or state supremacy theory of politics, for this is what the address amounts to which is put forth over his name. There was no occasion whatever for this address, except to reassert the doctrines on which the southern confederacy was founded, for the states are not assailed in any right or function whatever and are in no danger of such assault. But Gen Lane says the discussion of the old conflict is a revival of the past and the dead past. Then why did the committee which proposed this address assert that the contest between the parties was to be again on the old issue between the powers of the states and the authority of the general government? Why did it commend the policy of the democrats in congress during the extra session who forced a plea between these two ideas? This that was stated in this address are indeed a relic of the dead past in politics we shall not deny. Nevertheless Gen Lane has a history, many reminiscences of which will arise when he reappears as a champion of that theory of the relations of the states and the general government which once landed us with his direct assistance in civil war. Of all men Gen Lane is the one who on this subject should hold his peace. When he talks upon the subject 1861 will inevitably be remembered. It is sincerely to be regretted that he has reappeared in politics in this way since the course he has taken revives memories which unfortunately will banish the kindliness which many have felt for a man venerable for his years and held in kindly estimation by a portion as the grievous political errors of his life were being forgotten.

Pittsburg papers boast that there is not an idle iron mill in that city or vicinity. Though there has been an extraordinary advance in prices of all iron products within the past few months, a further advance is still confidently looked for. It is reported that orders for steel rails at $70 a ton have been recently declined and not a single rail will be sold for future delivery. The significance of this will appear when it is stated that less than a year ago contracts could be made for steel rails at $44. Prices of all descriptions of iron have now reached the highest point known for many years. All the furnace men who have been putting their works in blast as fast as possible find orders far ahead of their ability to supply them and the rage seems to be to buy iron as if it were a bonanza. Some are already sold ahead until May and June. Their product was contracted at what they considered big prices four or five months ago, and now they are delivering at ten dollars a ton below the market rates.

Much interest has recently been excited among army men and others over the fact that General Grant has at last made known through the authorized statement of John Russell Young that he was the originator of the March to the Sea, and that he communicated his plan to Gen Halleck. This matter has long been in dispute although those who have had access to the records of the war department have known that the plan was General Grant's and not General Sherman's, but this is the first time that General Grant has himself in public declared the fact, though he privately communicated it to several when the controversy first arose. In the same way General Grant has declared that the campaign up the Cumberland and Tennessee rivers did not originate with General Halleck. The records clearly show these movements to have been planned by General Grant.

An anti Grant organization is reported with its headquarters at Washington, which includes among its members several prominent republican congressmen. It is a movement supported chiefly by the friends of Secretary Sherman. Steps are being taken to extend it into as many states as possible. In New York a good deal is being done to help the scheme and the Sherman men are sowing seed in the southern states which they think will bring large harvest about convention time. It is said that Blaine's friends do not evince the same opposition to Grant, from the fact that many of Grant's supporters are known to favor Blaine for a second choice.

The wanton waste and destruction of forests in the United States is a subject of frequent and not unreasonable complaint. The unnecessary waste of material in the Italian marble quarries may yet be as sincerely regretted by the Italians as will the destruction of timber here by us. It has become a serious question how long the quarries are likely to hold out. At Carrara hundreds of tons are needlessly thrown away through sheer carelessness and clumsiness of workmen. The quarries have been worked almost incessantly since the days of the Roman emperors, and are not likely to last many centuries longer.

The Philadelphia Times tells this: "President Hayes went into the rotunda of the capitol some days ago and sat in one of the seats set apart for ladies. A policeman who did not know him ordered the president to move on. He did not respond readily, whereupon the officer arrested him and started for the guardroom, when an employe recognized the officer's mistake and informed him. The officer made profuse apologies, but the president said 'That is all right. I suppose you were carrying out orders.'"

Old Winnemucca's Piutes are to get the Malheur reservation back again. Thus Secretary Schurz in the goodness of his heart is furnishing a band of marauders with a base of operations for another outbreak. Agent Rinehart has held on with a most tenacious and abiding faith, and now his occupation is to be restored, unless Princess Sal comes home from Washington with his official scalp in her belt.

Reagan, the father of the inter-state commerce bill, says the inter-state commerce which now amounts to $30,000,000,000 annually, is at the mercy of $4,500,000,000 of capital invested in railway corporations a large portion of which investments are in material stock. Something must be done and that speedily, Mr Reagan thinks, to rescue this vast trade from the control of these monopolies.

A Chinese encyclopedia has just been published to meet a want long felt in the flowery kingdom. It is an ambitious publication, essaying to treat every subject and deal with every clime. In point of completeness it may be said to rival the labors of literary men in any age. It comprises 5020 volumes, which can be had for $7500, and is authoritatively said to be very cheap at that price.

The Salt Lake Tribune strongly opposed the reappointment of Emery to the governorship of Utah, on the ground that he was not sufficiently firm in his opposition to polygamy and Mormonism. And it has his scalp at its belt.

DRED DIFFERENT KINDS OF

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING JAN 22 1880

CITY.

A HIGH COMPLIMENT.—Miss Annie Pixley, the charming actress formerly a resident of Portland, has become a great favorite in the east and is now among the few [illegible] "draw" [illegible] the past year she has appeared in the leading [illegible] cities as the star of one of the finest traveling companies and has played [illegible] as will be remembered [illegible] boards in Portland [illegible] marked [illegible]. While in Philadelphia [illegible] New Year's [illegible], Miss Pixley was [illegible] of her [illegible] of the M'liss [illegible] awaited her and upon appearing, was presented with a rich gold necklace and locket set with [illegible] enclosing an Oriental amethyst [illegible] by extract from a [illegible] manager of the company [illegible] gift shows the high esteem in which Miss Pixley is held by her [illegible]. I am requested by the ladies and gentlemen who are present and [illegible] composing the M'liss combination to ask your acceptance [illegible] souvenir which [illegible] appreciation in which [illegible] are held by them socially and professionally. Our season has been remarkably successful and we feel that through your ability [illegible] that that success has been reached

NARROWLY ESCAPED DROWNING.—Mr Fred [illegible], who lives in Albina, narrowly escaped death by drowning last night about dark. He had crossed with a wagon load of beer to the east side on the O & C R R ferry and had driven nearly to the top of the incline when a keg rolled off the wagon. In backing to the keg the wagon with Friend [illegible] off the slip into the river. Theodore [illegible], deck purser of the ferry, sprang into the water, and holding with one hand to the chain surrounding the pontoon grasped [illegible] with the other and held him up until he was rescued by bystanders. The horse which he felt the wagon going over sprang forward breaking the traces and ran away. The wagon sank and the load of kegs floated down the river.

DR. HARVEY'S LECTURE.—The chapel of the Unitarian church was well filled last night the occasion being a lecture by Dr Philip Harvey, on "The First Appearance of Man in America." No synopsis of the address can do justice to the able lecturer. The subject was handled with that degree of research and fullness of thought which characterize the public utterances of Dr Harvey and was clothed in appropriate words. The next lecture in the course will be given Wednesday evening February 4th

PROBABLY A MISTAKE.—A telegram through the Merchants Exchange dated Victoria the 19th, [illegible] states that the steamer California [illegible] that port for Port Townsend. There is evidently a mistake in the name of the steamer, or in the date as the California did not leave Astoria until the 18th. The anxiety felt at Port Townsend for the safety of the steamer, as stated by our correspondent is natural, as they supposed the steamer had sailed on the advertised date

CONTRACTS LET.—Tuesday the contract for improving E street from Front to Tenth was let to Wm. Sweeney. The contract on North Seventeenth street, from B to N was at the same time let equally between E J Jeffery, John R O'Neil and Wm Tierney. A private contract for improving one block on E street was let to A. Hamilton, and a block on the same street was also awarded to J D Drew.

ST. VALENTINE'S SOCIABLE.—The ladies of the First Presbyterian church intend giving a sociable on St. Valentine's eve, Feb 13th. The chief feature of the evening will be the postoffice, presided over by young ladies who will, no doubt, lend all the assistance in their power to every distressed Knight or fair damsel in search of their "Valentines." Due notice will be given as the time approaches

INSTALLED.—The following officers of Columbia Rebekah Degree Lodge No 3 I O O F, for the ensuing year, were installed last evening by D D G M Osvold: Mrs Medora Hoffman, N. G., Mrs Alvira Smith, V G., Carl M. Elliott Sec. Mrs W F Wilcox, Treas., Geo B Henry, O G. Mrs J H. Lyon, I G. N S Pierce W. Mrs Mary L Pierce, Con

SPECIAL SERVICES.—Many of our citizens remember with pleasure Rev B S McLafferty of Oakland, Cal., who visited Portland some three years since. He came in on the last trip of the steamer Oregon and will assist in the series of special meetings in the Baptist church, which begin to-night, preaching a short sermon each evening. All are invited to attend

FROM ASTORIA.—A dispatch received from Astoria, 20th, says: Arrived Br ship Mer[illegible] Francaise, 60 days from Sydney, at noon; Br. bark Selaena, 67 days from Bluff Harbor, New Zealand 2 P M, bkt Melancthon, and brig Orient, in Bakers Bay outward bound. Wind all round the compass.

LECTURES IN EAST PORTLAND.—Upon the invitation of several prominent citizens of East Portland, Prof. O B Johnson will deliver four lectures in Neppach's hall, on the structure and development of the animal kingdom. The first of the series will be given next Tuesday evening

BUSINESS LOOKING UP.—Front street merchants report business better yesterday than any day since the late freeze. The shipments of general merchandise destined for eastern Oregon and the Willamette valley, gave the streets decidedly a lively appearance.

VISITED THE INSANE ASYLUM.—All the students of the medical college visited the insane asylum yesterday afternoon, and made interesting and useful studies of the different forms of lunacy and idiocy, under the guidance of Dr S E Josephi.

MID WEEK LECTURE.—The subject of the pastor's lecture to-night at the Congregational church will be "On What are You Building?" Scripture lesson Matt 7 24 29. Strangers cordially invited. Services begin promptly at 7 45

SECURING ATTRACTIONS.—A dispatch was received yesterday from Mr John Maguire, who is now in San Francisco, which stated that he is negotiating for first class attractions. He will return on the steamer State of California

MAILS.—The steamer Oregon brought to this port 169 sacks of papers, 12 pouches and 7 cases. For the past forty eight hours the clerks at the postoffice have had their hands full in distributing the mails

FINE HORSE SOLD.—Mr M B Rankin has sold to Mr James Imbrie of Washington county, the Norman stallion "Laurent," which he brought here from Illinois a few weeks ago, for $1600

PERSONAL.

Mr Ed F Albright writes from the Sandwich Islands that the bark Jane A Falkinburg reached Honolulu in 19½ days from the Columbia river bar. He says there were thirty ships in that port including two United States men of war—the Lackawanna and Ranger. He intended to sail on the 13th inst for San Francisco and thence overland to Los Angeles

COMMON COUNCIL.

[REGULAR MEETING JAN 21, 1880]

A regular meeting of the common council was held last evening at 7 o'clock at the chamber

His Honor Mayor Thompson in the chair, R [illegible] Durham auditor and clerk and Chief Lappeus in attendance

The following members were present: Gerdes Keller Nicklin Opitz Payne Stolte Watson Weber

Absent [illegible]

The minutes of the last meeting read and approved

THE VETO SUSTAINED

The following communication from the mayor was read

MAYOR'S OFFICE Portland Jan 21 1880

To the Honorable the Common Council: GENTLEMEN: I herewith return to you without my signature Ordinance No [illegible] entitled "An ordinance to amend Ordinance No 1081 entitled an ordinance fixing the [illegible] of the city treasurer" which passed the council [illegible] Jan [illegible] 1880

My reasons for withholding my signature from this ordinance are as follows: The ordinance No 1081 which fixes the salary and defines the duties of city treasurer was approved in [illegible] 1874. Since that time there has been held in the city of Portland three elections and the present incumbent was elected at each of said elections, to the office of city treasurer. He well knew when he was elected on the third Monday in June 18[illegible] what the duties of the office were and also what compensation he was allowed. He filed his bond as required by the city charter and the ordinances of the city defining the duties and fixing the salary of the city treasurer, and entered upon the duties of the office. By his doing so there was an implied contract made by him with the city of Portland to serve in the capacity of city treasurer for the term of two years at the salary then fixed by law

No additional duties have been imposed upon the city treasurer by the city government since he entered upon the duties of his office and the common council should not increase the salary of any officer of the city where no additional duties are required of them since they have entered upon the duties of their respective offices

The argument used by members of the common council is that prior to June 25 1874 the compensation of the city treasurer was $1800 per annum and that the city treasurer has now more duties to perform than at that time. I will say in reply to this argument that this common council should not follow precedents of extravagance but establish precedents of economy in the conduct of city business. Respectfully submitted

D P THOMPSON, Mayor

The veto was sustained by the following vote

Nays—Gerdes Nicklin Opitz Payne Stolte Watson

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

WASHINGTON Jan 22.—1:30 A M —Central and south Pacific clear or fair North Pacific light rains

STATEMENT BY W H WATKINDS

PORTLAND Jan [illegible] 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In your paper of the 12th inst appeared a card from Gov Gibbs in which he charges false statements are made as to the rulings of the court in the case of the State vs Watkinds I am certain the governor never would have written the card had it not been for the purpose of letting the people know that his pomposity was employed in this legal farce gotten up by Governor Thayer for personal malice and revenge at the expense of the taxpayers of the state THE OREGONIAN stated first that the demurrer was overruled second that this decision will it is supposed settle the greater part of the case in Watkinds favor third that among other things the court held that a ratification by the legislature of the acts of the superintendent in exchanging brick for a water wheel and other things necessary to the proper running of the penitentiary even if irregular when done, would be made lawful and proper by such ratification Gov Gibbs then rushes into print professedly to correct false statements when in fact he did not deny a single statement made in the local item in THE OREGONIAN He says First it is not true that the demurrer was to the whole answer THE OREGONIAN did not say it was but simply that the demurrer was overruled He says again the demurrer was to only unimportant parts of it" Now the fact is and Gibbs can't deny it that the demurrer was to all the answer except the wood and sand part of it, about $4243 while the defense in the answer to the balance covered about $10,700, and the demurrer to this part was overruled, as stated by THE OREGONIAN That may be unimportant to the wealthy governor but it is of vast importance to me and my bondsmen He says it is not true that the decision settles the greater part of the case in Watkinds favor THE OREGONIAN only said it was supposed to do so and it is very plain to men of common sense that it does do so because the legislature has repeatedly ratified my acts, and I so stated in my open letter to Gov Thayer Since Gov. Gibbs, missed the mark so far in reply to an OREGONIAN local it is not surprising that he should have known no better than to bring this unfounded action against me, unless he was animated by the same spirit as our now virtuous governor namely, revenge, and this I am compelled to believe, as the parties bringing this suit employed several attorneys from different parts of the state, namely Albany Corvallis and Portland, and when they examined the case, they informed them that they had no case against me Now friend Gibbs, don't you think it is "cheeky" in you in bringing this suit against me when you reflect on your administration of prison affairs while you were governor? Your appointees at the prison were disfranchised from ever holding an office in this state, and your superintendent and warden were compelled to leave the state for starving and whipping the convicts, whose cries were heard more than a mile from the prison See legislative proceedings of 1866 and testimony of L. M. Savage Convicts were allowed to escape from the prison 15 at one time, and the citizens of Salem were called upon to go to the prison and restore order There are many other short comings in your life that I might refer to but at the suggestion of a friend of yours and mine, I forbear I will say that you have made a failure of everything except when you were slinging hash to miners and Chinamen in southern Oregon And right here let me suggest to you while you are working up false and unfounded claims against me, four proper and just suits for you to commence First, the sale of two lots in the city of Portland belonging to the school fund which were sold $2100 less than their value, second B. F. Dowell, one of your clients, paid Gov Thayer who was then attorney for the state, between $400 and $500 in 1875, to stay execution on judgment against S T May, and said money was not turned over to the state at the time collected, and was kept by our modest governor for more than two years The interest on this amount he should be made to pay, third, Gov Thayer paid on Sunday before the election last June, money to ———, from Yamhill county, for the purpose of corrupting the honest voters of that county, and after he became governor, it was necessary to create an office at the prison for said ——— which position he now holds, and, again, I have an affidavit from a citizen of Salem that hints strongly at adultery, and you can have said affidavit if you will promise that suit shall be brought against the accused, fourth, I see by vouchers and the report of the investigating committee that Cols. Judge Bellinger and Wm. M Thompson, a brother of J. M. Thompson, your assistant counsel in this suit against me, drew pay as colonels during the Modoc war for ten days more than they were in the service, thereby swindling the state out of $67 These little matters I have pointed out to you for your own good, as you and Mr Thompson will come before the legislature for a large amount of attorney's fees, and unless you have done your duty some honest legislator may refuse to allow your claim for the reason that you failed to bring suit against the proper parties Now, Governor, in conclusion let me say that if you find any dirty transactions, such as the ones above referred to, during the seven years I held a public position I will plead guilty and pay over the amounts at once. All you claim against me in this legal farce is on technicalities, and you can't show where the state has lost a single cent by me. You claim a judgment against me for material that constructed the penitentiary. A water wheel and machinery and factories that I erected at the prison, which the state has had the use and benefit of for six years, are now in successful use at the penitentiary, which now enables the present administration to employ the labor of the convicts with profit to the state

THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Washington.

Walla Walla county has but two public charges.

A two story brick building, 50x50 is to be erected at Colfax in the spring

One hundred and sixteen children attend the Union Sabbath school at Colfax.

The Gazette reports that "large tracts of land are being purchased at the office of the N P R. R. Co at Colfax."

Information from the logging camps on the headwaters of the Yakima river of Harkness & Co is very encouraging Fine timber is being put into the river, preparatory to a rise, as fast as twenty seven yoke of cattle and forty horses can do the work Only two feet of snow obstruct the labors of the choppers With a good rise of water a large supply of fine logs will be gotten out this season

A permanent fort is to be built at Lake Chelan on the west side A ferry has been established over the Columbia, abreast of the lake by the government and in the spring everything will be moved down and across to the new location The last lot of freight hauled there cost 8½ cents per pound Some 5000 pounds started for there this week at the same figures Wood costs $25 per cord and hay $50 per ton

Walla Walla Union A six mule team is daily employed in hauling water to supply the garrison The water is obtained from the large hydrant at Main street bridge The commander of the post has a ditch in course of construction from Singleton creek in which to lay a large water-pipe When completed it will afford an abundance of cool, pure water for all purposes The ditch was commenced too late in the season but it is more than two thirds done

The reason for the dissatisfaction of the Yakima Indians at the presence of the Piutes are many among which are that the agent is killing all the [illegible] cattle for the Piutes, that these cattle were paid for by hay and pasturage from lands belonging to the Yakimas that the Piutes are of a thieving disposition that they eat their three days rations in one day and then beg or steal from the Yakimas that they kill the fat horses of the Yakimas to eat etc etc

Our Goldendale correspondent writing on the 20th inst says The mail sacks and wagon swept down in the Klikitat on the 16th inst, have been recovered and letters found to be but little damaged On the same trip through to Ellensburg the driver rushed into the much swollen Saltas and came out without horses or wagon Thus Miller & Gaunt the new proprietors of the line lose a valuable span of horses and one of their buck boards. So far the line has not been a paying one for them

The annual rise in the Columbia river and its tributaries failed last year to bring its usual supply of wood for the people of Wallula Many car loads have been shipped from the Touchet From the abundance of snow in the mountains there will be no scarcity of wood this year It is a notable fact too that the supply will have to be much greater to meet the wants of the people at various points on Snake river between Lewiston and its mouth as the settlements have grown very much along the Snake within the last two years

Walla Walla Statesman We are constantly receiving very encouraging reports from friends in the interior counties of Washington and Oregon which are to the effect that the present outlook for a big harvest is decidedly favorable as the crops are in much better condition than is usual at this time of the year In some localities particularly in this neighborhood there is a large falling off in the acreage of fall sown grain although it is said to be better than that sown in the spring, but the increased average of such this year will more than compensate for this apparent falling off

Business men generally in the state have closed the transactions for 1879 and an understanding can be arrived at as to how the first year in which the country generally has felt the influence of the revival in business Though for our own state the showing is very good still the improvement has not been made which was hoped for and which it was generally supposed had taken place The number of failures during the year is an unpleasant feature to be made at its close but when the statistics are no worse than they are for Oregon in 1879 the list can be cited without fear of invidious comparisons being made During the first quarter of the past year the total number of business failures in this state according to the report of R. G Dun & Co was nine with $64 454 88 of liabilities second quarter, 14 failures with $110 .67 12 of liabilities third quarter 18 failures $199 194 liabilities, and the fourth quarter 4 failures and $64,230 of liabilities Aggregate failures, 35 liabilities $438 046 49 Aggregate assets of failing firms and individuals, $228 314 44 excess of liabilities over assets, $1[illegible],732 05. These figures as compared with 1878 show an increase of 26 in the number of failures, but a decrease of $124 841 02 of liabilities, and a decrease of $58 673 38 in the excess of liabilities over assets Washington Territory shows eleven failures in 1879 against six in 1878 with liabilities last year of $171 395 88 against $80 226 00 in the year preceeding The report for Oregon shows that a great proportion of the failures must have been of small and probably weak firms The aggregate amounts of liabilities in the failures occurring in this state during the last three years were as follows

Year	Liabilities
1877	$463 170 81
1878	563 387 51
1879	438 046 49

There was a marked decrease in the amount involved in this state toward the close of the last year, showing the improvement in business which was not much felt here until within the last three or four months, There are good reasons for hoping that the current year will show even more favorably than last

In the local market to day we find no important change in prices. Business in mercantile circles is fair and increasing in volume The receipts of produce as will be seen have been light and for some articles as choice side meats eggs and butter there is an active call at full rates to supply the local trade Wheat is weaker, to-day's quotations ranging from $1 90@1 95 per cental

English Grain Review.

LONDON Jan 20 —The Mark Lane Express in its review of the British grain trade for the past week says that farmers have made up for their lost time as regards wheat sowing but since Wednesday the renewal of wintry weather has again caused some checks The autumn sown is germinating so slowly that in some districts it is feared the seed has been destroyed by the recent frost but generally speaking it is thought that while the situation is not especially promising offers few grounds of anxiety at this early stage

The quantity and condition of home grown wheat offered in Mark Lane and the provincial markets is unimproved and millers almost totally neglect samples, and in the very few cases where decent samples are offered sales are only practicable at a decline of a shilling per quarter Imports of foreign wheat were again moderate and have mostly gone into granary, as the consumptive demand has been very inanimate. A lack of confidence is becoming apparent in the trade Stocks are increasing, not only in London but in Marseilles and Bordeaux while the quantity of wheat afloat still exceeds 200 000 quarters, and while a further decline in New York augurs unfavorably for the success of American speculation the presence of imported stocks in French ports is sufficiently significant. The action of France was counted upon to relieve Great Britain of a fair proportion of the supply on passage Arrivals at ports of call have been moderate, There was a fair business in wheat cargoes at a decline of 6d to 1s per quarter on red winter and spring American and 1s to 1s 6d per quarter on Ghirka descriptions There was little demand for wheat for shipment though sellers were more inclined to meet buyers views There was a moderate inquiry for maize and barley at a decline of 6d to 9d per quarter Sales of English wheat last week were 32,871 quarters at 45s 11d, against 52,181 quarters at 38s 11d for the corresponding week of the previous year Imports into the United Kingdom for the week ending Jan 10th were 835 237 cwt of wheat and 119 84 cwt of flour

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence
